EDMONTON BULLETIN, JUNE 15TH, 1894.

AGRICULTURE IN SCHOOLS.

At a meeting of the Advisory Board of Education, on May 29th, a somewhat lengthy report on teaching agriculture in the schools was presented. Some people think that only experience, combined with diligence and frugality, can make a good farmer, that to theorize about a subject so altogether practical as farming is simply to waste time; and a few other persons have been known to say that special knowledge is not necessary in order to be able to farm. To raise such objections to the training of farmers is as unreasonable as to object to the special training of the medical profession. Record of that profession's progress proves conclusively that doctors, who first get possession of the knowledge of all their predecessors, of mistakes to avoid, of certain remedies to use, of all the scientific generalizations gleaned during centuries of empirical groping, round this nucleus of knowledge group individual experiences and everyday practice, that these doctors far surpass in skill the medical men of a hundred years ago—men, who had neither school, nor system, but who administered doses prescribed by superstition and ignorance. Only when the art of healing was based on scientific knowledge, did it command universal respect and attain to the dignity of a profession.

The recommendation to the Advisory Board was a movement towards the right direction. The report reads: "That the opinion of the province seems largely in favor of this introduction as evidenced by: 1. the unanimous resolution of the legislature to that effect; 2. The repeated representations on the subject made by the Manitoba Central Farmer's Institute; 3. the views obtained by members of the committee from prominent farmers and others in the province." The proofs, that the province favors the introduction of agricultural in schools should be convincing enough to induce the department of Education to give the suggestion, at least, a fair trial.

The separate clauses of the report resembles a ghost, seeking incarnation in some substantial, bodily form, but finding it not. The educationalists have, evidently, a clear conception of the end in view; but being entirely professional men, with indefinite ideas of all that agriculture embraces, the means suggested to attain that end are altogether insufficient. An examination of the curriculum and careful observation of the methods of working of a first-class agricultural college would considerably guide those framing a plan for teaching agriculture in country schools. Training in an agricultural college takes too much trouble and time for the average farmer; but all country children spend a few years in the public school, and if a knowledge of agriculture is of great importance to the farmer, more or less of it should be taught in the country school. In the Northwest, where physical conditions determine that the majority, the great majority, must earn a living by farming, it would scarcely be going too far to say that more money should be expended teaching first-class agricultural methods than in teaching Classics, Higher Mathematics or Modern Languages. The press rightly deprecates the great influx of young men to cities. Can the young men be blamed? The city offers intellectual and social advantages, law schools for the law student, medical halls for the medical student, and theological seminaries for young divines. In the country, the young man learns the three R's at a district school, then he commences the hard work of farm life.

Manual labor, when not based on knowledge and executed with intelligence, is stigmatized as mean, as wanting in rank and dignity. Under our present system when we educate a farmer, we draw him away from the farm, and to that fact, and to that alone, is to be attributed the condition of affairs, which causes observing writers to note that Canadian farmers, socially and intellectually, occupy a far lower position than they ought. In the old country a land owner is a powerful and influential member of the community; and he never thinks of deserting his original vocation because he may have acquired some polish or education. A man's vocation does not constitute his worth. His own worth and dignity are determined by his character, and consequently, by the way he does his work. To make the worker a thoroughly intelligent, broadminded worker, is to dignify manual labor, is to convert drudgery into intelligent living, is to remove one of the chief causes of envious bitterness subsisting between classes of society, is to turn the stream of congested city life back to healthier, happier channels of rural life. The professions are already overcrowded with incompetent self seekers; but there is room, boundless room, for first class farmers, farmers with sense enough not to sell themselves to a smooth tongued agent, with intelligence enough not to increase their own cost of living, with a thorough knowledge of all the manifold parts of their occupation, and with constant watchfulness of the shifting relations between the productions of the soil and the demands of the commercial world.

WETASKIWIN.

On Sunday, June 10th, the new Wetsaskiwin Church was opened for divine services, under most favorable auspices. Heavy showers, at intervals, having apparently no effect on the attendance; quite a number of our farming friends drove into town, some coming a considerable distance. The church is a frame building 40x26, having a tower and spire reaching to about 56 feet in height, and the tower, which is 10 feet square, provides a roomy and handsome porch. The main building is plastered throughout. Seating accommodation, in the form of very comfortable benches, is provided for a little over 100, further seats will be put in as required. The preacher's platform is very neat in appearance; the rail is an exact counterpart of that in the Calgary Methodist church. Taken altogether the church is something to be proud of and is an ornament to the town. Although owned by the Methodists, the building may, and we understand there is every probability of its being fully made use of in the near future. The Rev. G. W. Dean, of Calgary, chairman of the district, officiated at the opening morning service, and in his usual style preached an impressive sermon from John 16th and 13th. In the afternoon Mr. J. W. Morrow, our resident Presbyterian friend occupied the stand, and preached an effective sermon from the 10th and 11th verse of the 3rd chapter of Isaiah. In the evening, the President of the Conference, Rev. J. McDougall and the Rev. G. W. Dean, jointly conducted the service which included an interesting sermon by the president taken from the 36th verse of the 3rd chapter of John; and the formal dedication of the church, "for the Worship and Service of Almighty God." At the close of the service, additional subscriptions, towards the building fund, were promised, amounting to $97.00; the collections realized $22.50. The total cost of the church is about $1,025; towards this amount, subscriptions paid and promised, the proceeds of opening services, lectures &c., reached the very satisfactory sum of $600; leaving a balance of about $425.00 still to be provided for.

On Monday evening Rev. Geo. Dean delivered his lecture "Through the Rockies on a Railway Velocipede", illustrated by sixty excellent stereopticon views, which were very much enjoyed by a fairly large audience. The lecture, which was remarkably interesting, resulted in an addition to the funds of $20.65.

FOR NORTHERN ALBERTA.

Mr. John Metcalf, president of the Bank of Montreal, passed through Calgary, from the north on the 9th inst. Mr. Metcalf drove across country from Olds to Lacombe and says he intends purchasing a section of C. P. R. land in the neighborhood of the latter place. He was accompanied by three farmers from the same district, one of whom, Mr. Jurgen Koch, told Mr. R. L. Alexander that he had selected homesteads for himself and three sons and was going to purchase land in addition. He returned to Iowa to sell his farm, which is estimated to be worth $20,000, in order to seize upon the opportunity he sees before him in Alberta. "If the people of the United States," he said, "could only see your country, it would be filled inside twelve months."

IRRIGATION SURVEYS IN ALBERTA.

Mr. J. S. Dennis, chief inspector of surveys, accompanied by Mr. A. O. Wheeler, D. L. S., Mr. T. D. Green, D. L. S., and Mr. R. A. Davy, C. E., arrived from Ottawa yesterday morning.

With the assistance of these gentlemen Mr. Dennis is going to commence the general irrigation survey of Southern Alberta and Western Assiniboia promised by the Government to the delegation lately sent to Ottawa to ask for this work, and which is required to enable the government to deal with the subject of irrigation under the Dominion Irrigation Act which is now before Parliament.

During the past winter Mr. Dennis was sent by the government to examine and report upon the irrigation systems in Washington, Colorado, Utah, California, Nevada, Wyoming and New Mexico, and the information obtained has been used in elaborating the scheme under which the general irrigation survey which is about being commenced is to be made.

MEXICO TO HUDSON BAY.

Representative McLeary, of Minnesota, who is a member of the committee on railways and canals, has laid the foundation of a scheme to connect the gulf of Mexico with the Hudson Bay. This is a project which has caused more or less discussion in the Northwest, and surveys for other purposes have been used in making computations as to the feasibility of the plan. Mr. McLeary now proposes that the United States government shall in conjunction with the Canadian government make a preliminary survey to ascertain whether in the first place, the scheme is feasible, and if so what the probable cost will be. Mr. McLeary's plan is to have the survey made by the way of the Minnesota river, whose head waters and those of the Red river of the north nearly join through the Big Stone and Traverse lakes. In high water boats of considerable size have crossed from one to the other, and it would not require a very large canal to connect the water of the Red and Minnesota. While the difficulty of connecting the Red and Minnesota rivers is not great, it is claimed that the rapids in the Red river, near Winnipeg, have always discouraged the Canadian government from the undertaking. There have been several conventions of citizens of Northern Minnesota, North Dakota and Winnipeg, looking to the opening of the Red river, in the hope that they might find a short water outlet to the seaboard. Each of these conventions have been confronted with the obstruction in the Red river, but Mr. McLeary thinks that if the United States should take some steps towards opening up a channel on this side of the boundary that the Canadian government might be inclined to take some action looking to opening the Winnipeg river. Now that a proposition has been agreed to by the committee on railways and canals to survey a canal to connect the Ohio with the great lakes and another has been favorably talked of to survey a canal connecting the great lakes and the Hudson river, he thinks that it is but just that another project of interest to the west shall be considered and he will urge it before the committee.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Northern Pacific expects to have through trains running to the Pacific coast in a week.

Bradstreets: The U. S. treasury expenditure for eleven months of the fiscal year, have exceeded the receipts by nearly $71,000,000. Last year the receipts and expenditures nearly balanced each other.

Winnipeg Tribune:—It is learned on good authority that at last the premier has decided to inform the house that he will not introduce a bill this session to further gerrymander Quebec. The government expects when this is done that all parties in the house will set to work to bring about a proposition.

Our leading corporation, which were so generous at the time of the St. John's, Nfld., disaster, have not forgotten the British Columbia sufferers from the flood. Mr. Robert Meighen, president of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, told your correspondent to-day that he had instructed the company's agent in Vancouver to distribute a carload of flour, containing 410 bags, for the relief of those unfortunate people.

Dublin Tribune: An old woman who owned a half acre of ground at Nenagh, county of Tipperary, died Friday without leaving a relative or specifying an heir. Her neighbors quarreled Saturday over the possession of her land. Some thirty men fought with scythes and pitchforks around her hut. They broke in the door, upset the body and beat each other with candles which had stood round the body, and when the fight ended two men lay dead at the door step; five were too severely wounded to walk from the scene.

Messrs J. H. Ross and T. B. Baker, of Moose Jaw, left for home last night after submitting their plans of the proposed dam at that place to the government and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. They succeeded in obtaining assurances from Sir John Thompson and Sir William Van Horne, that engineers would be sent by the government and by the Canadian Pacific company to examine and report upon the proposed water power scheme and that the requests for subsidy in aid of it would be considered of the reports of the engineers were received.

One of the worst accidents that has ever happened on the C. P. R. near Fort William, took place Saturday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock. No. 1 passenger express going west to Winnipeg left here at the usual time, and when 28 miles west of here it ran into a burning bridge, and in a flash the engine, baggage car, mail and express car, one colonist sleeper and one first-class coach were piled upon each other in the bed of the stream, and there was a scene of indescribable confusion. The cars fell twenty feet, the last one falling on top of the engine. Fortunately there were but 13 passengers on the entire train—the unlucky number—and as one first-class coach, one sleeper and the diner did not go over into the river, the number of people actually in the wreck was small. The saddest in connection with the deplorable accident was that of Mrs. Baker, of Hochelaga, who, with four children, ranging in age from two and a half years to eleven, was on her way to visit friends at Elkhorn, Man. Neither Mrs. Baker nor her children seem to have been much injured, for she passed her darlings out to the rescuers, but turning back to procure some of her things, the car rolled over the pile of debris into the river. An effort was made to rescue her but without avail. Her body was found some time after. Mert Brown, express messenger, was killed. The engineer and fireman had a miraculous escape. All the injured passengers and others were well looked after by the C. P. R. officials. The loss of mails, which were heavy, will cause great confusion as well as loss, for the department not being responsible, the money will not be paid back. The Dominion Express company will likely have a heavy loss, as it had a large amount of stuff on board, but as all records were burned it is impossible to tell what the extent of the loss may be. The children and remains of Mrs. Baker will go east by first train; a lady from Fort William will be sent in charge of the children by the railway company.

POPULAR LAKE CREAMERY.

The creamery plant is being rapidly got into position. It consists of one No. 1 Alexander separator, one milk receiving vat, 400 gallons; one tempering or heating vat; two cream vats, each 300 gallons; one Curran trunk churn, 400 gallons; one Mason power butter worker; and sundry fittings and appliances. I. Vance, practical creamery operator, who was engaged as manager, arrived from Ontario last Monday. On Friday evening between twenty and thirty of the neighboring farmers assembled to see the separator at work, the result being satisfactory. It was, however, found necessary to make a slight alteration in the engine bed. This will be attended to at once, and it was expected the creamery will be in full running order by the 25th.

During the evening a meeting of the directors was held. John Cameron in the chair. It was decided to charge six cents for the butter making. This to cover all the expenses of hauling new milk from farm, separating, returning skimmed milk, tubs and packing, and selling. The delivery cans, only, to be provided by the patrons; the company to furnish the cans, and deduct the price thereof from the proceeds of the butter.

A letter received by J. Cameron from Mr. D. M. Radcliffe, of Cochrane, stating that his company had cold storage at Calgary and Vancouver, and also had arrangements with the C. P. R. for the transport of produce; and that he would if requested be happy to come to Edmonton and interview the patrons of the creamery. It was therefore decided to extend an invitation to Mr. Radcliffe asking him to visit Edmonton at his earliest convenience.

MAN'S INHUMANITY TO MAN.

DEAR SIR: People read with surprise the following, inserted in your locals of last issue.

"Henri Apoux, aged 19 years, was brought before Col. Jarvis and H. Wilson, justices of the peace, and sentenced to one month for vagrancy. Apoux is subject to epileptic fits which seize him at intervals of half an hour."

The poor boy was not 19 years but 14 last May as proved by papers in his father's possession. The boy is dead, hurried to his death in an inhuman manner unworthy of a civilized country. There was not the slightest excuse for sending this poor boy to prison, he was not a vagrant in any sense of the term. Apoux senior, the boy's father, who had gone down the river, requested the hotelkeeper, where the boy was arrested, to give his son board until he came back, and his credit was accepted. Apoux returned in 20 days ready to pay his indebtedness and to his grief and surprise found his boy in prison and dying. Apoux and his son came from France lately and are citizens of that republic. What a return we are making to that country which has helped this great Northwest with so many money and so many devoted missionaries in the Oblate Fathers.

Now it is our duty as Canadians and as christians to see justice done in this matter and if possible keep it from reaching the French Consul, which it will certainly do unless a commission is appointed to look into the matter and bring those to blame before their superiors.
